FOOD FOR LOVE!

Opening up your stomach and heart for others

Singapore, 1 February 2010 – Having been around since 1983, Parkway on Coleman, previously known as Parkway Thai, has a long history in Singapore – and now we would like to pay it forward and give back to the community.

The “Food for Love” month-long food drive encompasses the idea of emotional stimulus for action. Aside from their own passion for food, we are hoping to encourage individuals to look beyond and see the need for emotional nourishment, the need to be compassionate for others.

Metta Welfare Association is the chosen charity for this food drive. A staple provider of quality health care and welfare services to the needy regardless of race or religion, Metta Welfare Association will be working alongside Parkway on Coleman to initiate an island-wide outreach for love and compassion this 2010.

The festivities are over, but the sharing of love and joy should be never-ending. Starting 15th March 2010, $2 proceeds from every order of Parkway on Coleman’s Hi-Tea menu will go to the Metta Welfare Association to aid in their advocacy of providing for the needy and the less fortunate.

In the coming day and age, it is very easy to lose oneself in the evolution of society and this world that we live in, therefore, “Food for Love” comes in to play to remind us all that with every mouthful, we can be sharing it with someone else, after all, food always taste better when shared, does it not?

Parkway on Coleman is located at 23A Coleman Street, and the Hi-Tea menu is available Mon-Fri from 2.30pm to 5.30pm at $15 nett for adults.

About Parkway on Coleman

Parkway on Coleman, or previously known as Parkway Thai restaurant, has a rich history that dates back to 15 December 1983. A prevalent feature in shopping malls back in its heyday, Parkway on Coleman has since evolved from being just a restaurant that specialises in Thai cuisine, to a holistic establishment that encompasses experiential dining for the guaranteed satisfaction of our customers.

Today, Parkway on Coleman branches out to other areas. Other than a venue for dining, Parkway on Coleman now has an arm for weddings, catering and events, providing customers with just about everything they need all under the Parkway umbrella.

Specialising in Thai cuisine, Parkway on Coleman, has built-up a name for itself in the industry, making it an authentic restaurant with age-old history. However, to keep up with moving times and the change of customers palates, Parkway on Coleman is slowly conceptualising a fusion menu that merges the East and the West, making it a diverse restaurant with an international reach.

One of the longest running Thai food restaurants in Singapore, Parkway on Coleman is certainly home to heritage and rich culture that is not only seen in its appearance, but also, the quality of the food.
